

John Agnar is really hungry after his gym workout but he is in an unfamiliar area and doesn't know where the nearest food places are.

He then remembers our app that can be used to not only view food places in the area but also their ratings and reviews as well as their nutritional value. (Which is important for a post workout meal!)

John uses the app to locate a nearby restaurant that met all of his needs. He is now able to get a good nutritional meal that was close to the gym he was at!